Any social relations need appropriate legal regulation, which provides their form and organizes them. The relationships that directly affect human life and health, public order, and public safety requirements require special vigilance. The Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine is a multidisciplinary service-oriented institution that forms the state's law enforcement and security policy. Various institutions fall under his authority, including those of a paramilitary nature, whose employees constantly face difficult and often stressful situations, which can have a direct negative impact on the quality of their duties and on their state of health. Therefore, in the process of functioning of the Ministry of Internal Affairs and its subordinate institutions, an important place is occupied by psychological support, in particular, the direction of psycho-prophylactic work, which aims to support the optimal working capacity of law enforcement officers, to minimize the impact on them of adverse factors of their activities, and to preserve psychological and physical health.

The authors stated that the authorities had formed a package of legal acts that provide the basic principles for the organization of psycho-prophylaxis activities, in particular, determining the tasks, goals, types, and terms of activities, expected results, and indicators of the quality of the activities carried out.

In the process of analyzing them, we found that that psycho-prophylaxis in the bodies of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine is focused on socioeconomic, legal, organizational, official, psychological, pedagogical, and medical measures aimed at preserving, strengthening, and restoring the psychological well-being and health of employees, preventing the occurrence socio-psychological and personal maladaptation.

However, it should be noted that the adopted normative legal acts relate to individual divisions of the system of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine: the National Police of Ukraine, the National Guard of Ukraine, the State Emergency Service of Ukraine, and the State Border Guard Service of Ukraine. The psychological support of each of the mentioned subdivisions of the system of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine is regulated by separate regulatory acts. Accordingly, it was established that this area has no single systematic document of a unified nature and formed a structural division that would organize the psycho-prophylaxis activities. Ergo, there is also no single external control over the implementation of psycho-prophylaxis in the bodies of the Ministry of Internal Affairs. This provokes a situation when each body of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine, which provides psychological support, has its own peculiarities in the interpretation of the concept of "psycho-prophylaxis" and implements its own psycho-prophylaxis measures, taking into account the specifics of the tasks assigned to it.

On the one hand, the existence of a single legal document would make it possible to unify and refine both terminology and the system of psycho-prophylaxis at all levels. On the other hand, the specifics of the organization of each unit of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine and their assigned tasks vary so much that there is a risk that a single legal document that will regulate the psycho-prophylaxis mechanism might not be able to cover all requests.

The article states that it is expedient to organize a clearer interaction in the field of psycho-prophylaxis between various services and divisions of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine and to develop a scientifically based model of psycho-prophylaxis work, systematization of forms, methods, and means of psycho-prophylaxis using modern standardized methods, as well as psychoeducation of law enforcement personnel.
